Fifth grade GATES students from both Northern and Southern Elementary schools will be presenting a "Night at the Museum" on Tuesday, November 25 at the Pendleton County Public Library. The event is scheduled from 5:30-6:30 p.m.

The students have interviewed veterans and created monologues to represent the veteran they spoke to. During this event, the students will become human statues as they strike a pose dressed as the hero they represent. Each statue will spring to life when approached and speak to the public as the veteran, telling many fascinating stories of military life and coming home from war.

The students would love to share this event with the community as all are invited.

PCHS represented at Anthony Munoz Foundation Youth Leadership Seminar

Members of the 2014-15 Sophomore Youth Leadership Initiative Program represented Pendleton County High School at the Annual Anthony Munoz Foundation Youth Leadership Seminar this year. This interactive workshop took place at Xavier's Cintas Center where students participated in a variety of activities which included learning from guest speakers, participating in breakout sessions with other schools and enjoying live entertainment!

The breakout sessions were set up so that each school was randomly paired up with another school. In these smaller groups, the schools discuss and brainstorm ideas in order to come up with a service project that would be specific to its interests and its community. The teachers or volunteers facilitated the sessions and challenged each school with the Anthony Munoz Foundation Service Challenge which brings student ideas to life! This year's theme was "Spark" and so students were asked to develop a project which could create a spark for change and improvement in their community.

Student leaders were treated to a day of speakers, multi-media presentations, group exercises, and a few surprises. In the end, they returned home as informed and inspired students ready to instigate personal and perhaps community change by making stronger character choices and inviting friends to do the same. Anthony sent them home with a vision and a charge to make positive choices not only because it makes them morally strong, but also because it makes them more able to pursue their dreams through school, work, family, friends, and their future.

Oakland Christian hosts a "Walk Through Bethlehem"

This holiday season Oakland Christian Church invites you to take a trip with them at 149 Oakland Church Road and experience the true Spirit of Christmas. Your trip will take you on an outdoor adventure to first century Bethlehem on the night Jesus was born.

As you enter the city, allow the sights, sounds and smells to carry you to a period of time that changed the world. Journey through the heart of the city to the marketplace that is bustling with activity at authentic shops; enjoy samples from the baker's shop, marvel at the potter's crafts and listen for the rumor of a king's birth from excited townspeople. Beware of the Roman soldiers though! They are just looking for an excuse to arrest someone!

After you make your way down the market, make a stop at the Inn, and the Synagogue, and then venture on to a moonlit field where you find shepherds watching their sheep and hear angels singing. Continue your journey to the Nativity where a very special baby was born in the stable. Meet Mary and Joseph and hear their joy expressed in song. See royally robed Magi and hear how they journeyed from far away in search of this heavenly King. Finally, your journey will end at the cross where you'll meet Nicodemus and an angel as they proclaim the "reason for the season."

"Walk Through Bethlehem 2014" is Oakland's holiday "gift" to the community. Many families will take their children to see Santa Claus at the mall this year. Oakland invites you to bring them to the church where they can discover the real side of Christmas by taking a "Walk Through Bethlehem."

Prior to your tour, you will meet in the sanctuary and listen to special guest singers who are bound to stir your heart. Remember to dress warmly. This special event will be held from 5:30 - 8:30 p.m. on December 6-7.

For more information contact the church at 859-654-6174 or 859-797-3719. (Be sure to check us out on Facebook, also.)

Karen Davis Homemakers meet

Karen Davis Homemakers met at Loretta Simpson's house on Monday, November 10 for their annual Thanksgiving Karen Davis Homemakers' dinner. Afterward the meeting was called to order.

Homemakers cleaned Broadford Road in October and got several bags of trash and cans. Thanks to the homeowners who keep their part of the road clean.

Winter Wonderland was held Saturday, November 15 and Homemakers helped at the event.

They brought gifts for the children at Children's Hospital to be given out for Christmas and will once again be sponsoring two families for the South Family Resource Center which is one of their favorite community services to participate in.

The lesson was 100 Years of Homemakers. Two of the charter members with 40 years of perfect attendance, Janice Fields and Loretta Simpson, shared how Karen Davis Homemaker Club was formed. It started October 19, 1974 at the home of Yulla Katherine Anderson. There were 12 members with two having perfect attendance. It was named after their dear friend Karen Davis who has gone on to live with the Lord and was the County Extension Agent at that time. They met during the day and did crafts and quilting. Over the years the membership declined due to death and ill health so in order to recruit new members they moved the meetings to evenings. They still have 12 members with several having perfect attendance. And they are still going strong.

The next meeting will be at Amy Whitaker's house at 6:30 p.m. where they will be celebrating Christmas.

If you would like to join Karen Davis Homemakers please call the Pendleton County Extension Office for more information.

Coping with handicaps

Recently I mentioned how FDR had overcome a devastating battle with polio and went on to become one of our nation's great Presidents. We will mention in this article three other persons who have also coped well with serious handicaps. Two unfamiliar; one well known to the readers in Pendleton County.

First, Kash was the parts manager for Johnson Motors in Breathitt County. Johnson Motors was owned by my brother-in-law, Ellis Johnson. I worked for said business while a student in college one summer. I got to know Kash well.

He was severely crippled, from what, I do not know. He walked without a cane, but he negotiated around the parts department with amazing speed for such a handicap. He was married with a family, but he always was on time and had to drive several miles to work. He was always there when I arrived, and I only lived a few hundred yards from work.

“How ya doing today, Sport?” was his customary greeting to me. A big smile flashed across uneven teeth. And, so it went all day long with other workers and customers. A cheerful interchange and a smile as needed. He was like a ray of sunshine. I never heard him complain a single time in a business where customers can be edgy when something goes wrong with their vehicle. He must have been in pain lots of times with legs such as he had, but we never knew it if he did. He just seemed happy to have a job and to be able to do it well. He had looked the devil of despondency square in the eye and backed him down.

Second, I received a call this past week from a former student of mine at Lees College in Jackson. He expressed his appreciation for the influence I had on him as a student in English and as manager of the Lees basketball team when I coached it one year in the late 1960's. He went on to graduate from Western University, taught and coached at several public schools in Kentucky, was elected to eight Halls of Fames in athletics and had retired to the home place of his family in Jackson, Kentucky. He had done well financially and funded a scholarship at Western. Very loyal to his Mother and Father, he speaks in reverential tones when he mentions them.

He is now confined to a wheel chair, lives by himself, but has neighbors who help him and a lady who comes once per week to clean the house and do laundry, and a driver who chauffeurs him as needed. He has a fantastic mind that startles one with details concerning situations that are only obscure in my memory. And, the above simply scratches the surface of this fascinating life.

What makes this all the more incredible? He has suffered all of his life from cerebral palsy, walking and talking with a halting rhythm. I have seen him referee basketball games, fall flat on his face, but get up and blow his whistle when a lesser person would have withdrawn to the sidelines. He has used his handicap to open doors, not close them. He will be featured in a book due out in 2015 by Steve Flaherty, a writer with deep roots in Pendleton County.

Finally, Gary and Alice Holmes, are well known in Pendleton. We had written of them in December, 2012 as a Christmas card family, living in peace and serenity on Highway 159, overlooking Falmouth below. Both retired, both active in their faith, both well thought of in their community. Gary playing with Mr. Tim and the Back Porch Gang at Howard's on Friday evening, Alice still lighting up her world with her smile and pleasantness.

Then the accident that left Gary in a wheelchair. The question reverberates: “Why do bad things happen to good people?” Despair, despondency, anger, guilt, pain, agony, all of these and more frequently beset a person who has an accident such as what happened to him. They have fought their way back via their faith and grit. I was overjoyed when he wheeled his chair to my table at the Antioch Christian Ladies Aid Society annual fundraiser. He did not seem like a broken man. He talked and laughed and joked.

Then, I asked a stupid question: “What do you do with your time?” Was I surprised when he said, “I stay busy?”

“Doing what,” I asked? “I sharpen chains.... for chain saws,” he returned.

“That's interesting,” I said, “I'll bring you one in a few days.”

True to my word, I drove to his domicile and pulled into their driveway where Alice was tugging with an oversized box. I helped her into the kitchen with her burden while Gary supervised from his wheel chair. Then, I went back to my truck to get the chain. I could not find it. I apologized for my ineptness and departed to find the chain, once I got home, hidden in the dark recesses of my pickup.

I returned a few days later and hanged the chain on a hanger just outside his workplace. He called a day later and said that it was ready. I picked up my chain, handed him five dollars and a tip and retraced my drive to Highway 22.

What's so remarkable about this story? Gary and Alice have won this battle! They haven't quit. They haven't thrown in the towel! They've looked the Devil in the eye and haven't blinked. They haven't cursed God and died as Job's wife entreated. Rather, they have shouted from the top of 159, “My Redeemer liveth!!!!” Amen and Amen and Amen!

PCHS celebrates Red Ribbon Week

Pendleton County High School took "Red Ribbon Week" and reading to the next level to promote drug-free lifestyles and choices.

Teachers and students turned the high school into a Harry Potter theme with each hallway color coded to the houses from the Harry Potter books. Therefore, each grade was divided up into different "houses" and they were able to stack up points for their grades and bragging rights for the competition. Points were earned for each grade for attendance, discipline, and participation in the Red Ribbon Week festivities.

The theme days for Red Ribbon Week were: Monday - Hat Day, Tuesday - Wacky Day, Wednesday - American/Camo Day, Thursday - "House" Color, and Friday - Halloween Dress-Up Day.

Congratulations to the Class of 2016, the Junior class, for winning the Red Ribbon Week bragging rights. Many of the students enjoyed the theme days and there was a great amount of participation throughout the week.

Along with Red Ribbon Week, Student Council has been very active in the school for the month of October.

They would like to congratulate Cullen Beard for being the Student Council Member of the Month.

Sarah Tackett as Medusa.

Many members helped work at the Bingo Hall last month. Student Council members also aided Morgan Sydnor and Tori Wanstrath (co-corresponding secretaries) with putting up bulletin boards around the school. Many members also helped Avery Booth (parliamentarian) create birthday pencils to give out to students as a gift that also comes with a homework pass to use at the teachers discretion.

Student Council has many exciting events within the coming months. During the month of November, members helped with the Veterans Day program and also will bag groceries at Wyatt's. During December, Student Council will oversee the Blood Drive (12/8) at PCHS and will have their annual Student Council Lock-In.

Student Council would like to thank everyone who participated in Red Ribbon Week and made it a success.

The winners of the Halloween contest were Scariest: Blake Pollard as Plague Doctor; Prettiest: Brooklyn Honaker as Queen of Hearts; Most Unique: (tie) Sarah Tackett as Medusa (This was Sarah's fourth year in a row winning the Halloween dress up contest.) and Anna Askren as Cindy Lou Who; Best Couple: (tie) Summer Childers and Jonah Smith as Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio and Trey Roseberry and Kaylin Wells as Ron Burgundy and Veronica; Best Group: Alexis Garrison, Bailey Wanstrath, and Sabrina Sebastian as the Three Blind Mice.

Student financial aid comes in many forms

High school seniors and their parents beginning the college financial aid process will find there are many types of aid available. This list from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) provides short descriptions of the most common types.

- Conversion scholarship/loan. This type of financial aid requires recipients to provide certain services or pay back the funds with interest. An example would be the KHEAA Teacher Scholarship.
- Grants are usually based on financial need and generally don't have to be repaid. These include the Federal Pell Grant.

- Institutional aid. This term refers to the scholarships, grants and other financial aid programs provided by the college.

- Scholarship. A scholarship, like a grant, usually doesn't have to be repaid. Scholarships are usually based on grades, athletic ability, artistic ability or criteria other than need.

- Student loan. Loans have to be repaid. The most common is the Federal Stafford Loan, sometimes referred to as a Federal Direct Loan.

- Waiver. A waiver lets a student attend college without having to pay tuition and certain fees. For example, Kentucky public colleges and universities provide waivers to state residents 65 or older.

- Work-study. These programs let students work on or off campus to earn money for college. Examples include Federal Work-Study and KHEAA Work-Study.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student financial aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

Ag Leadership Day held for students

By Seth Longworth

Students participating in the 2014-15 Pendleton County High School Sophomore Youth Leadership Initiative Program recently visited our local extension office for "Ag Leadership Day." This was an after-school event planned by 4-H agent Shelley Meyer, who sits on the Leadership Initiative Advisory Board.

The purpose of the afternoon was for students to see people who have pursued a career in agriculture, have been very successful in doing so, and who have shown effective leadership throughout all their endeavors.

Speakers for the afternoon included Payton Carrioco and Kelsey Knight, current students at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. They spoke on leadership and gave valuable insights on experiences they've had in high school, as well as giving advice concerning the transition they made from high school into college.

Next, Lindie Huffman, the county extension agent for agriculture and natural resources spoke to the group. She discussed current issues that the people of Pendleton County are currently facing, especially farmers. She gave information regarding what her job entails, including examining types of plants and insects farmers may find, giving advice to farmers of the community, and many other things. It is evident that her career looks different every day, presenting an exciting and challenging job.

Janelle Gardner, the County Executive Director at our local USDA office, spoke next. She spoke about the many experiences she's had in her position at the USDA, and what inspired her to become involved in agriculture in the community.

Finally, full-time farmer Rob McClanahan spoke. He talked about his many experiences, including working and being active with the Kentucky Farm Bureau office and dealing firsthand with people of the community. Each presenter connected their experiences and current positions back to the leadership skills necessary to do their job well. They also made it clear that agricultural careers are very exciting in that their job "changes" on a day-to-day basis.

All the speakers from the event did very well in conveying that their careers in agriculture hold benefits for and help to give back to the community.

The Sophomore Youth Leadership Initiative is sponsored by the Pendleton County Gifted and Talented Program in collaboration with many community organizations.

We're all EARS!

Chapter 10

"OK, Chloe," I said, giving my best pep talk as we waited to be called onstage to perform our song and dance. "It's the moment of truth. Remember, whatever happens, we did our best."

"Contestant number 27," we heard the announcer say. Chloe and I walked onstage and looked at the three judges. One judge was the governor of Kentucky, another was a cute blond girl who'd starred in several movies, and the third judge was a local guy from the electric company. We sang a medley of folk songs. We started with Hot Corn, Cold Corn, then transitioned into Big Rock Candy Mountain, and finished off with Honey in the Rock. Since Dad had bought me a contraption that held the harmonica to my mouth, I was able to sing, play the harmonica and the dulcimer at the same time while Chloe clogged.

I kept a groovin' rhythm going, making sure the beat was not too fast or not too slow. In camp we learned that even while we are playing music, we must listen. Chloe listened carefully and clogged perfectly to the beat. The judges had smiles on their faces, and I saw the guy from the electric company tapping his feet and trying to stay in rhythm with us! As we held out the last note on the harmonica and dulcimer, the audience gave us a rousing ovation. We even heard a deep voice in the back yell "encore!"

Soon all of the contestants stood onstage waiting for the judges to tally the results. As I waited for the emcee to announce the Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion, I thought about the past several weeks. Oddly enough, a man we first misjudged as a burglar who was stealing ended up being a generous man who gave us so much.

"Ladies, gentlemen, we have a winner for the 2014 Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion." The crowd cheered. "Honorable mention goes to ..."

Thanks to Mr. B., we had learned about the rich ancestry of Kentucky. We now understood how immigrants from Scotland, Ireland, Germany and England settled in the Appalachian Mountains of Kentucky. Life was much harder for them than it is for us now. While I had everything I needed, these folks didn't even have necessities like brooms. They had to use the resources from Mother Nature to create those necessities - and not only did they make them useful, they made them beautiful. Those beautiful and useful creations are now our treasured folk art.

"The Craftiest Kentuckian Third-Place Award goes to ..."

More than anything, I was so thankful our ancestors loved and cared for the stories, music, art, medicine, hobbies and traditions so much that they made sure to pass them down through generations for hundreds of years. I was going to do my part to make sure they continued to be passed down.

"The Craftiest Kentuckian Second-Place Award goes to ..."

Still, I couldn't put my finger on one specific thing that made Kentucky so special. And then it came to me. Too excited to wait and tell Chloe after the awards, I whispered to her as we stood on stage. "Chloe, it isn't one thing that makes Kentucky so special, it's many things. It's the different regions, the different landscape, the different dialect and different talents. It's our resources, our traditions, and most of all it's our people - people who love Kentucky and are proud of its history and heritage. It's the people who give back to Kentucky since Kentucky's given so much to them."

"And now for the grand prize. The winner will be invited to the Governor's Mansion, preside as grand marshal of the state parade, be an honored guest at the Kentucky Derby, and receive two nights at a Kentucky state park. Ladies and gentlemen, the 2014 Craftiest Kentuckian grand champion is ..."

"I am so proud to be part of the rich tradition and heritage of Kentucky. Aren't you, Chloe? Just thinking about it gives me goose bumps."

Obviously I was whispering too loud because the emcee said, "Contestant number 27, have you heard a word I've spoken?"

There were chuckles from the entire room. I looked at Chloe and she smiled. Embarrassed, I cleared my throat and said, "No, sir. I'm sorry. I was just thinking about our state and telling my sister how proud I am to be a Kentuckian."

"That's very nice, son, but do you think you could stop talking for a moment while I announce the grand champion for the second time?" the emcee asked as he winked and smiled. "Are you two ready to listen?"

"Yes, sir," I said proudly. "We're all ears!"

THE END

Thanks for reading the 2014 newspaper chapter story. We hope you collected each chapter and made the We're All Ears book to read over and over. We hope you enjoyed learning about our state as much as we did. ~ Woody and Chloe

Sharp CheerCats take part in competition

Bowling falls to tough Simon Kenton team

In 2013, when the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) first recognized bowling as a sport activity offering a state championship, Simon Kenton boys' team came home with the state championship. Many of those team members remain on the team and proved to be a huge test for the young Wildcat Bowling team.

Simon Kenton easily won but coach Gary Polley saw progress.

"Everybody showed signs of improvement this week. This team has a lot of potential and they are starting to show it," said Polley.

Sixth grader Trevor Colvin was the top bowler for the Cats as he rolled a 158 in the first game and flirted with a 200 game halfway through the 10 frame game.

Senior Jonah Smith bowled his season high of 140 as the Wildcats top bowler in the second game.

Fellow senior Dalton Hill was his consistent self with a 129-125 two-game score.

On the Ladycats side, they were nipped in the last frame by Simon Kenton's 4th and 5th bowler from winning the first game.

Chyann Utz had a strong first game with a 141 and rolled a 115 in the second. Kendall Carr continue to show a good game for the newcomer with an 116 followed by a 107.

Both teams play Scott High School at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 20 at Bellewood Lanes.

Hunters prohibited from bringing carcasses of deer killed in Ohio into Kentucky

Hunters will no longer be able to bring the whole carcass of a deer killed in Ohio into Kentucky.

Researchers recently confirmed that a deer held in a northeastern Ohio captive hunting reserve tested positive for chronic wasting disease (CWD).

CWD is a contagious and fatal neurological disease that affects deer, elk and other cervids native to North America. Currently, there is no evidence that CWD can be transmitted to humans.

Chronic wasting disease has been previously detected in other neighboring states including Missouri, Illinois, West Virginia and Virginia. Ohio joins 19 other states and two Canadian provinces where this disease has been found.

Kentucky, which does not have the disease in its animals, prohibits the importation of whole carcasses or high-risk cervid parts such as the brain, spinal cord, eyes, lymphoid tissue from deer or elk killed in CWD - infected states and provinces.

Hunters may bring back deboned meat, hindquarters, antlers attached to a clean skull plate, a clean skull, clean teeth, hides and finished taxidermy products. To help prevent the entry of CWD into the state, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources discourages hunters from bringing back high-risk parts of deer or elk taken in any state, regardless of CWD status.

Several proactive steps have been taken by Kentucky Fish and Wildlife, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and captive cervid owners to prevent the introduction of the disease into the state.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife monitors wild deer and elk herds while the Kentucky Department of Agriculture monitors the captive herds. Since 2002, Kentucky has tested more than 23,000 deer and elk for the presence of the disease. All results have been negative.

Regulations enacted to reduce the likelihood of CWD in Kentucky have included a ban on importation of live cervids from CWD-positive states, mandatory CWD monitoring of captive herds and prohibiting the importation of high-risk carcass parts from CWD-positive states into Kentucky.

This disease can persist in the environment and may be contracted from contaminated soil or vegetation or through contact with infected cervid parts. The movement of live animals, either through the captive deer trade or natural migration, is one of the greatest risk factors in spreading the disease to new areas.

American Lung Association has gift for golfers

The American Lung Association's 2015 Kentucky Golf Tour Book is a perfect present for the golfer on your holiday gift list. The popular discount booklet offers great savings on rounds of golf, while benefiting the critical fight against lung disease.

The 2015 golf book includes more than 4000 rounds at over 250 fine courses in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and Ohio. Each participating golf course offers book holders a discount on one or more rounds of golf at their facility; some courses permit one round a month; and 59 clubs allow unlimited play.

"The Golf Tour Book is a gift that continues to give all year long!" said Carolyn Embry, who coordinates the 32-year-old program. "Golfers save on their rounds throughout the year, and purchase of the golf book gives the gift of life through support of live-saving medical research and lung health programs for people of all ages," she said.

"Remember to purchase Golf Tour Books for stocking stuffers, thank-you gifts for business associates or presents for friends and family members," said Embry.

The books may be pur-

BLANKET CREEK

We recognized our veterans present today Bro. Joe Hall and Jim Wells and paid tribute to our veterans past and present. Bro. Joe sang "The Old Rugged Cross" made a difference leading into his message "Calvary" the place of the skull where Jesus bled and died for us. The hill of Golgotha is a place of punishment and pondering. It is also a place of perplexity and penalty. Isaiah 53:12 talks about that. I Peter 3:18 tells us it is a place of pain where after beaten Jesus was humiliated, mocked and nails put in his hands and a crown of thorns on his head.

Like Peter how many times have we denied Christ? If you have not confessed Jesus as your Savior, you have denied Him.

We added Mabel Jeffries, Ellie Ramey, Steve Miles, Rick Angel, Chuck Carr and special prayers for Jonathan Carr and his family to the prayer list along with the family of Mary Merrill. Have a blessed week!

BUTLER BAPTIST

Brother Daryl's message was from James 3:1-13. With our words we can bring good or evil. Teachers and preachers face a stricter judgment from God because of their great responsibility to others. But everyone is to practice what we preach. The tongue is vital to speech. It is the cause of many of us falling short when we lie, are jealous, brag and speak evil of others. We are held accountable for everything we speak. We lose control of our tongue when we don't pay attention to what we say. The tongue can destroy. Boasting makes the listener feel inferior. The tongue is a fire. The fire of words can destroy communities, churches, reputations, friendships, children, and families. We need to build each other up. The tongue cannot be tamed by man. Only God can. The tongue both blesses and curses God.

We have to control our tongue. Is your tongue under control? Do you seek to build people up or tear them down? We can use our tongue for good or evil. It is our choice.

BUTLER METHODIST

Lee Greenwood was part of the service on Sunday, honoring and remembering our veterans with his stirring song "Proud to Be an American," via our media screen. Many of our congregation brought in photos of their loved ones who have served in the military that was displayed out in our vestibule.

After services Will and Tori were honored with a bridal shower from the church with the presentation of their own Christmas tree filled with ornaments and monetary gifts. We all enjoyed a lunch and lovely cake for the couple. Tammy hosted the game session. A fun day.

It would have been a perfect day, but our dear Frank was rushed to the hospital during services with chest pains. At this time he is still confined to the hospital. Please keep him in your prayers.

Also please pray for the Mary Murrell family in their loss, Pam's co-worker Tammy, Betty's daughter-in-law having surgery on Thursday, for our travelers, Nancy Kyle still recuperating, Terry Maxedon, David Lucas, Teresa Rick, Bobbie Seibel, Ima Jean Harris, family of Linda Jones, family of Bill Knuckles, Judy's mom, and all those we don't know yet.

God be with you till we meet again.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

Pastor Kevin's message was taken from 1 Peter 3:19. In these last and final hours, a dark cloud has covered the earth and blinded men from seeing both the truth and light.

The same thing happened nearly 5000 years ago in the days of Noah. Shortly after Noah celebrated his 500th birthday, the Lord instructed him to build an Ark.

Sin had become so dominated and controlling that man was overtaken with evil thoughts both day and night.

A group of fallen angels began to co-inhabit with the women on the earth in order to spoil the pure bloodline and prevent the Redeemer from coming and redeeming man's soul.

These fallen angels were locked away in a prison that's in the heart of the earth. When the Lord's physical body died upon the cross, Jesus descended into this prison and announced His great triumph to these fallen angels.

Just as judgment fell upon the ungodly in Noah's day, it's about to fall in our day. People need to repent and get ready for the Lord's return.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

What a wonderfully busy and exciting week we've had at Falmouth Baptist Church. God is so good!

We had another fabulous Harvest Festival. Lots of great food, wonderful fellowship, and spectacular silent auction items. Thanks to everyone who worked so hard to make it a success.

Sunday morning worship began with recognition of our veterans. Thank you to all who served.

Bro. Cohen's message challenged us to think about what difference is a relationship with Christ making. How are our lives different? As Christians we should think differently, feel differently and act differently than the world. Christ gave us new life and that should be noticeably different.

We rejoice with Thomas Muench and his family. Thomas made a public profession of his faith in Jesus Christ and has requested believer's baptism.

We had a delightful bridal shower for Aryn McKinney Sunday afternoon and a beautiful White Bible Ceremony for her Sunday evening.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Bro. Rick's message was from 2 Chronicles 15:1-15 titled, "God's Presence."

When we are in the presence of God, we have everything we need. Without the presence of God we are nothing. We shall have one God, the one who gave us life. All paths lead to somewhere; where does your path lead? Our leaders need to find God, and invite Him into their heart. Anything that puts God second in our life is a sin.

Thank you to the veterans, you have sacrificed so much to keep us safe.

Pray for the sick, the lost, those who have lost loved ones, our country, and our military.

"Human energy. Powered by God."

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN

Pastor Nick's message came from Hebrews 2:1-3. When the seas get rough with doubt, depression, anxiety, and addictions we need to hold something that will not break loose, nor fail us. We must hold tight to the word of God. If we don't hold to what we have heard in the Bible we will slip away, and get thrown overboard.

If judgment was given for disobeying God's word brought by angels, Hebrew 2:3 warns us, "How should we escape if we neglect so great a salvation that was spoken by the Lord and confirmed by those who heard Him." Let's hold on!

Our second Sunday hymn sing was a wonderful time of song and laughter! Join us Sunday evenings at 6 p.m.

The Co-op of churches Thanksgiving service will be held at Falmouth Wesleyan Church, 7 p.m., Sunday, November 23. Special music will be performed by Kentucky Mountain Bible College mans quartet.

HARVEST COMMUNITY

Bro. Donnie's morning message was titled, "Where's your treasure?" Based on scripture text of Luke 12:13-21. Why do you save money? To retire? To buy more expensive cars or toys? To be secure? Jesus challenges us to think beyond earthbound goals and to use what we have been given for God's kingdom. Faith, service, and obedience are the way to become rich toward God.

Hanging of the greens will be Sunday November 23, immediately following morning worship. Advent will begin Sunday November 30. Everyone is encouraged to stay and help decorate the sanctuary.

Prayer concerns: Barry Miller, Danielle Faulkner, Greta King, Matthew Wolfe, Denny Barker, Debbie Allen, and Bro. Don Weaver.

Come worship with us at 111 E. Shelby St. Sundays: 9:30 a.m. Bible study for all ages, worship 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday prayer service 6 p.m. Youth group meeting Wednesday and Sunday evenings 6 p.m.

Blessings for a wonderful week!

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Children's Moment honored our veterans. Kathie recognized each veteran in the church. The children honored them by presenting each one with a star sticker.

"Compassion, Courage, Love" was the topic for Duke Wilmes's morning message. Dallas and JJ Hannah made their profession of faith. Welcome to our church family Dallas and JJ.

Sunday evening young couples Bible study continues to gain attendance. Thanks to leaders Ken and April LeCrone for all the hard work.

Fellowship Thanksgiving dinner and church meeting will be November 16.

Operation Christmas Child shoe boxes need to be at church by November 16. Our goal is 75 shoeboxes.

Food pantry items for November are canned soup and crackers. Boxes are in fellowship hall and back of church.

Life is not about what comes to you, but what comes through you.

MT. MORIAH

We had a beautiful service honoring veterans. We had 15 veterans in attendance. The service included singing of patriotic songs. Our service was followed by a meal to show our veterans how much we appreciate all they did for us.

2 Timothy 4:7 I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Finally, there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give to me on that day, and not to me only but also to all who have loved His appearing.

We added many to our prayer list this week including, James Joyce, our country leaders.

We are really having a great time at group Bible study on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m., all are welcome. Sunday school at 10 a.m. service at 10:45 a.m. Please join us.

NEW HOPE

The history of Thanksgiving tells a wonderful story of how God has ministered to us during our troubled times. Our Thanksgivings often came during our troubled times. The pilgrims had a rough journey and winter before they celebrated their Thanksgiving. Congress issued eight different Thanksgivings during the troubling times of the revolution. Abraham Lincoln issued Thanksgiving during the low time of the Civil War. During America's great depression, Thanksgiving was given a permanent time. Sometimes we look at our challenges our countries face and wonder what is there to be thankful for? We are dealing with economic problems, wars, threats from foreign enemies, drugs, and new diseases. However, if our country will humble itself before God, change its attitude, and show real love and appreciation toward Him, then we can find out how God will minister to us once again.

NEW ZION

Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship is at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m. The CrossFire Crew and Bible study group meet on Wednesdays at 6 p.m.

Upcoming opportunities: December 6, we will meet at 4 p.m. for a trip to the Festival of Lights. The CrossFire Crew (past and present) will have a reunion party at 6 p.m. on December 12.

1 Peter 5:7 (casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you.)

Please remember in prayer Janet Bishop, John Thomas, Gretchen Teegarden, Bill and Alice Brown, Rick Angel, David and Kelly, Connie Jett, Tabitha Kelch, Jerry Westerbeck, Mark Branham, Bob Stout, Michelle Collins and the Hampton Family. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

God bless all our veterans! We thank Heather Brumley for preparing a power point presentation in honor/memory of our veterans.

The message of the morning reminded us to give God our service. If you are too busy to serve others, then you are too busy to be happy or to experience the joy of the Lord.

Our Thanksgiving potluck supper is November 23, at 5 p.m. Come join us. After the meal, we will be having special music by Michelle Faulkner and Penny Wolfe.

PINE GROVE

Bro. Ron chose Ezekiel 37 for his scripture, revealing God's prophecy to Ezekiel that a time is coming that the Jews will be called together and a new Israel will form. Israel will be one kingdom with one God and David will be the leader over them. They will be cleansed and their idols will be no more and God is a jealous God and no other God will be served.

Our country was founded on Christianity. George Washington and our country's leaders assembled in a church in New York City following his inauguration for prayer and proclaiming us a Christian nation.

In the upcoming week, we want to remember and pray for our veterans, work with our Dream Kids, and set up with our crafts at the Winter Wonderland.

November 7 and 8, we had a successful craft sale at Asbury United Methodist Church where Asbury shared a room with us again. Thanks Asbury.

November 16, we will have our district superintendent, Rev. Owen Dolin, with us for our annual charge conference.

November 19, the U.M.W. will meet at Flo McDonald's. Phyllis Kelsch will have our program informing us of her mission to the Dominican Republic.

Our new prayer concerns are Flora Lena McClanahan and David Sydnor.

As we enter the Thanksgiving season, let's remember to thank God for our bountiful blessings and our family gatherings.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Thank you veterans and our men and women in the military today!

So good to have Bobby Straub back with us.

Bro. Rick's message was from Ephesians 6:10-14. Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armor of God that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

We have enemies in this world. Satan is one. Satan truly hates those who please God with their lifestyle. He attacks your spirit and puts doubt in your mind. Satan cannot take our eternal life but he will do anything possible to make you stumble and destroy your character. Don't struggle with Satan. How protected are you from Satan's attacks?

Learning and living by the truth makes life easier. You can find this by being a child of God. Believers stand firm and faithful.

Sunday night Bible study will be from various books of the Bible on christian belief.

SOUTHSIDE

Happy Veterans Day to all our veterans. On November 9, our young people opened the morning worship service with the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, Christian Flag, and the Holy Bible. Marvin Sullivan led the congregation with the opening hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Veterans Day of 2014" from Romans 13:8-14. He talked about what it takes to be a veteran of Jesus Christ. The memory verse for the week comes from Romans 13:11, "And do this, understanding the present time. The hour has come for you to wake up from your slumber, because our salvation is nearer now than when we first believed."

Please remember in prayer those that are on prayer list, the leaders of our country, and those in the service of our country.

Worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service.

TRINITY

Give thanks with a grateful heart! This is such a beautiful chorus and fitting for November. As we prepare for our 29th Thanksgiving dinner, we give thanks to God for using our church as an instrument of love to reach out with a wonderful meal, prayer and a warm smile.

For those who are unaware of our community dinner, we come together on Thanksgiving Day and provide meals to those in our community who are shut-in, elderly, rest home residents, community service workers, those who are alone, etc. These meals are delivered to your doorstep. For those who are able, join the workers for a feast at our fellowship hall. Serving line starts around 11 a.m. for those eating in.

Remember when calling in orders to give good directions and a phone number in case we need to return a call. All meals are uniformed; there are no special requests possible on deliveries. No requests after 9 a.m. Thanksgiving Day.

TURNER RIDGE

Sunday morning we had an amazing service! The morning was dedicated to veterans and their service to our country. We said the pledge to the American flag and the Christian flag, then Warren Farrar read two poems wrote by James Dillet Freeman, "Prayer of Protection" and "I am there", both of these writings have been taken to the moon. During the offering a video of both past and present servicemen was played and then Bro. Dale shared with the kids during the children's message, what a veteran was and why we honored them.

Gale Gregg and the RA's presented flags to the veterans attending our service and gave a brief description of what the colors and symbols stand for on the flag. Kristin Lawson then read scripture from I Peter 2:11-12, and Cecil Osborn a WWII veteran asked each veteran to come to the front and each anthem of the military was played, ending with Cecil sharing the words from Taps.

Bro. Dale's message "Earn This" brought our service to a close, "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends." John 15:13

Quick and easy cooking with a pressure cooker

At the end of a busy day, many of us would love to quickly produce a tasty, nutritious, home-cooked meal with minimal effort. One way you can achieve this is by utilizing an electric pressure cooker.

Some of you may be hesitant about using a pressure cooker, either because you're not familiar with them or have heard horror stories from your mother or grandmother about pressure cookers exploding and the cooker and its contents flying across the room. As long as you correctly follow the manufacturer's operating instructions for the cooker, you can cook most foods very safely. Today's pressure cookers include more safety release valves and interlocking lids, which makes them safer than older models. Electric pressure cookers have their own heat sources that are automatically regulated to maintain the desired pressure.

In an electric pressure cooker, foods cook three to 10 times faster compared to conventional cooking methods because the cooker does not allow air and liquids to escape the container below a pre-set pressure. As the pressure builds, the temperature inside the cooker rises above the normal boiling point.

This not only helps the food cook quickly, but it helps food retain nutrients and requires less water to prepare items. It also results in less energy used to prepare foods. You can cook multiple foods at the same

Planning next year's home garden starts now

You may be delighted to put gardening behind you for the season, but fall is the time to manage and prevent disease in next year's garden. Summer crops may still be standing, even after being killed by heavy frosts and cold temperatures. At this time, you can take preemptive measures to help ensure a successful and bountiful garden next season.

Cleaning things up in the fall can help cut back on disease in the following harvest season. Many pathogens responsible for diseases commonly seen in home gardens can overwinter or survive between crops on equipment and plant residue. Here are tips to prevent the spread of disease and be ready for the next growing season:

Remove old plant debris and trash from the garden or greenhouse and burn or bury it. Thoroughly clean tools and equipment and sanitize with disinfectant. (This is also a good time to oil shovels and other blades to prevent rust.)

Turn dead plant matter under as soon as you are finished with the garden. Several plant pathogens can survive in these residues during the winter, and they can threaten next year's crops. Plowing them under now allows more time for plant matter to break down and the pathogens to die.

Rotation is another powerful tool that should be implemented to prevent disease. Rotation slows the buildup of pathogens in the vegetable garden, preventing problems in the long run. For best results, avoid planting the same or closely related crop species in the same place more than once every three years.

Even though spring is months away, start thinking about what you'll grow and where it will go in the garden. Making notes of variety, placement and yield from the past season while it is fresh in your mind is especially useful, since it is easy to forget the details over the long winter months.

Also start mulling over the varieties you are likely to plant. Resistant varieties can significantly reduce or eliminate damage from disease and can allow a gardener to lower (or possibly eliminate) use of fungicide for a particular crop. Do keep in mind that resistant varieties do not eliminate disease. Consult your seed supplier or catalog for more information.

A garden does take planning and careful consideration, but successful disease management begins with the few simple steps outlined above. If you start now, you'll have built a strong foundation for a successful disease management program in your home garden.

For more information, please contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Teaching the importance of compassion

The holiday season is a time for giving thanks and giving back. Now is the perfect time of year to teach children the importance of community service and nurture the spirit of giving.

Start by choosing a charity in your own community. Then talk to youth about the kinds of charities they would like to support.

If an organization is looking for food donations, give your children the money you want to spend on donations and let them choose the food items at the grocery stores. Thoughtful selections give them a chance to think about what some who are less fortunate might need.

For young children, it may mean more to donate time by helping out a community service organization like a soup kitchen, for example. They can help by doing small chores like decorating the tables, making sure there are napkins laid out and handing out silverware.

Twins and teens, on the other hand, might find it more meaningful to raise money for a particular cause. They could do some chores around the house and neighborhood to raise money to donate.

Another way to instill the importance of community service is through volunteering, which teaches valuable lessons. Teaching in projects like cleaning up school grounds, clothing drives and toy drives can help give children a sense of community and what it means to take action.

While working at a toy drive, for instance, let the children sort the toys according to age group and gender. These and similar tasks teach organizational skills as well as the ability to care.

If you decide to participate in buying Christmas presents for a child who is less fortunate, let your children make the decisions on what to buy. Usually there is a dollar limit, so it is a good challenge for your children to use the money wisely.

Whatever "giving-back" path you decide, adults should also be committed to serving others and willing to work alongside youth. This sends the message that adults are not only encouraging, but are proud to support the same charities youth believe in.

No matter the strategy, your focus on reinforcing a child's compassion for others is a key to helping them become caring adults.

For more information on volunteering and community service projects, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Daniel makes cheesecake for Gloria's birthday

The Amish Cook

By Daniel Yoder

Hi to all of you. Guess what, our little bundle has arrived!

Hurray, it is a boy! Austin Daniel was born on October 30, filling our hearts with joy. He weighed 6 pounds, 10 ounces and is 18 1/2 inches long. He was born at home and, yes, everything turned out fine. Who but God could design something as wonderful as a newborn baby?

You guessed it, our 3-year-old daughter Julia is totally delighted to be a big sister to a baby brother. She was very excited to show Austin her dolls and toys. It is very exciting to be a new daddy to a little son. I can hardly wait for him to be old enough to go make furniture with me. Our shop is a two-man operation as of now. So it will be easy to take him to work with me at a young age. He will probably end up putting me to work and have me take care of him! Ha!

I really enjoy making furniture especially when taking a rough piece of lumber and making something very beautiful. We make distressed and log furniture.

I really enjoyed being home more the last week, taking care of my family. Austin is a week old now and seems to be a very content baby. We really enjoy watching his expressions. He can make the cutest faces. Julia was delighted to have him giggle when she tickled his cheek. You will have an update next week on how Austin Daniel is doing.

Today I will share a recipe for the next time I would like to make a special treat for my wife. I make it for Gloria's birthday every year. She is delighted every time. Gloria's birthday was November 12.

If any readers would like to send Gloria a card, she'd love hearing from you at 10568 East 350th Ave., Flat Rock, IL 62427. Phone, 618-584-3912 or fax 618-584-3915
